	Comfortable Pants	1	Breathable pants protect and stay cool enough on hot days. Longer, sturdier pant for climbing and other activities	Nylon, Synthetic
	Swimwear	1-2	Athletic bathing suits recommended to avoid wardrobe malfunctions during activities.	Modesty

FOOTWEAR

	Water Shoes	1	Durable and light weight. Old Tennis Shoes or anything with a good sole will do. Like normal shoes, they should stay on.	Water resistant, Or not
	Trail Shoes, Tennis Shoes	1	AKA Sneakies, for hiking, etc. Be fast, be agile, be closed toed. You have much to learn.	Dirt resistant... Or not
	"Camp Shoes"	1	Shoes to wear while lounging around camp. Like Chacos or sandals with a sturdy sole and a back strap.	Shoe
	Shower Shoes	1	Good ole' Flip-Flops work great and can be purchased for less than $1!	Waterproofness

SLEEPWEAR

	Sleeping Bag/ Twin Sheets	1	You'll be staying in cabins on bunks, so be sure to bring either a sleeping bag or a pair of twin sheets.	We trust you
	Pillow	1	Don't stress on the color.	Anything, just sleep on it.

MISC.

	Buff/ Balaclava	1	Bufs can substitute for a lightweight balaclava (think "Bank-Robber Mask"). Great for keeping your head safe from sunburn.	Polyester
	Sunglasses	1	Protect your eyes and look classy while doing it.	Anti-Sun
	Baseball Hat	1	150% of a visor (Visor = 50% of a hat/ Visor = 100% of itself/ So 100% of a Visor + 50% of a visor = Hat)	Felt, Cardboard, Aluminum

THEMED SOCIALS

	Pajama Party	1 Outfit	Pajamas. Means. Clothing. Pull out those fluffy bunny slippers and dinosaur onesies!	Sleep Inducing
--	--------------	----------	--	----------------

	Mid-Summer Night Dance	1 Outfit	Semi-formal attire, or Semi-Funny attire.	Classy
	Egyptian Festival	1 Outfit	Your most prized pharaoh headdress, gold jewels, and artifacts.	Worthy of Mummification

PERSONAL SUPPLIES

✓	STUFF	#	DESCRIPTION	MATERIAL
	Day Pack	1	Not to be confused with a Night Pack. Carry around all your personal supplies (Except the Day Pack, obviously)	"Capacious Extremi"
	Eye Care/ Eye Wear	1	Bring extra pairs of contacts in case you lose some.	Eyeball friendly
	Sun Block	1	Sun glasses for your skin! SPF 30 or more recommended.	Anti-UV
